A City full of love for the needy

CITY University College of Science and Technology (City UC), the education arm of Selia Group, pledged a scholarship fund worth RM3 million at the MyKasih "Love My Neighbourhood" programme in Batu Caves, Selangor.

The fund will help students further their studies in engineering, architecture, business, accounting, communication, information technology, computer science, nursing and health sciences at City UC in Petaling Jaya.

Selia Group, which has businesses in engineering and construction, chose the foundation as its corporate social responsibility partner.

City UC has been in the industry for more than 25 years through the establishment of Petaling Jaya Community College in 1984.

PJCC was upgraded to Unity International College in 1998 before being awarded university college status last year.

The growth of City UC is in tandem with the government's vision of making the country a regional centre for educational excellence.

Study opportunities at City UC will boost the foundation's programmes to set up caring neighbourhood all over the country and the world.

Selia Selenggara and Selia Group chairman Tan Sri Subhan Jasmon said: "Our aim is to enable poor families to achieve economic independence by provid-
